

Important dates

We prolonged the deadline for study applications at UMB. The deadline for the submission of applications to the faculties is announced in accordance with the development of the SARS-CoV-2 coronavirus infection.

Due to the exceptional situation caused by the spread of the COVID-19 disease, the Faculty of Arts of the UMB will for the second round of applications (in the period from 1 May 2020 to 31 May 2020) accept a later submission of the confirmation from the doctor for study programs where talent exams are held, i.e. for teaching in physical education, teaching in physical education in combination and teaching in physical education in combination with training in the first study cycle.

Graduates who are sending their applications to the UMB faculties can upload their grades directly from their electronic transcript of records; there is no need to have the application confirmed at the secondary school for the time being.

Applicants (students with maturity exams and other applicants who have completed their secondary education earlier) are encouraged to upload scans of all relevant attachments, including certificates of activities, in accordance with the requirements for a particular study program, to their electronic application. The scans also include certificates with a clearly visible stamp of the school and the director's signature.

Officially certified copies of the study certificate(s) or other relevant attachments in accordance with the requirements of the relevant faculty can be submitted on the day of the enrolment at the latest.

More detailed information for the applicants can be found on the website of the faculty which is offering the study program of the applicant's interest. We recommend that you follow them.

When submitting an electronic application form, which contains some required attachments, it is not necessary to send a printed version of the paper application to individual UMB faculties.

Thank you for your understanding.

Application Form

Submitting an application for university studies

We prolonged the deadline for study applications at UMB. The deadline for the submission of applications to the faculties will be announced in accordance with the development of the SARS-CoV-2 coronavirus infection. We will inform you directly on the main University website and on the websites of our faculties.

Due to the exceptional situation caused by the spread of the COVID-19 disease, the Faculty of Arts of the UMB will for the second round of applications (in the period from 1 May 2020 to 31 May 2020) accept a later submission of the confirmation from the doctor for study programs where talent exams are held, i.e. for teaching in physical education, teaching in physical education in combination and teaching in physical education in combination with training in the first study cycle.

Graduates who are sending their applications to the UMB faculties can upload their grades directly from their electronic transcript of records; there is no need to have the application confirmed at the secondary school for the time being.

Applicants (students with maturity exams and other applicants who have completed their secondary education earlier) are encouraged to upload scans of all relevant attachments, including certificates of activities, in accordance with the requirements for a particular study program, to their electronic application. The scans also include certificates with a clearly visible stamp of the school and the director's signature.

Officially certified copies of the study certificate (s) or other relevant attachments in accordance with the requirements of the relevant faculty can be submitted on the day of the enrolment at the latest.

More detailed information for the applicants can be found on the website of the faculty which is offering the study program of the applicant's interest. We recommend that you follow them.

When submitting an electronic application form, which contains some required attachments, it is not necessary to send a printed version of the paper application to individual UMB faculties.

Thank you for your understanding.