ADMISSIONS

General information on the admissions process (bachelor's and master's degree programmes)

For all applicants, the admissions process begins by submitting an electronic or printed application. Applicants may apply for multiple programmes, but they must submit a separate application for each programme they apply to. There is no limit on the number of submitted applications.

If applicants apply via electronic application, they are also obliged to send a printed application to the faculty. The printed application must be filled in, personally signed and include all required enclosures. An electronic application without a printed counterpart received by the admissions office is invalid.

The application must include:

- the applicant's CV,
- a notarized copy of the applicant's secondary school leaving examination certificate (applies to applicants for bachelor's programmes who have completed secondary school),
- a notarized copy of the applicant's bachelor's-level state examination diploma (applies to applicants for master's programmes who have completed their bachelor's studies),
- a copy of the proof of payment for the application fee (paid via bank transfer),
- a certificate of fitness from a doctor (applies to physical education programmes),
- specifically required enclosures for the programmes Slovak for the Linguistic and Cultural Competence of International Students and Teaching of Physical Education and Coaching.

Applicants for bachelor's programmes who are taking their secondary school leaving examination in the same year as they are applying and are applying for a programme with no entrance examination must deliver a notarized copy of their secondary school leaving examination certificate to the faculty's admissions office by 13 June 2022.

Applicants for master's programmes must deliver, without written notice from the faculty, a notarized copy of their diploma and bachelor's degree state examination certificate to the faculty's admissions office by 15 July 2022.

Applicants who do not present any evidence of meeting the basic admission requirements by the given deadline will be accepted conditionally. Applicants are obliged to present a notarized copy of a secondary school leaving examination certificate (applicants for bachelor's programmes)/a notarized copy of a diploma and bachelor's degree state examination certificate (applicants for master's programmes) by the day of enrolment at the very latest; otherwise they cannot begin their studies.

Applicants who have completed a previous level of education abroad are obliged to prove the recognition of any education certificate obtained outside the Slovak Republic. The admitted applicant is obliged to present proof of recognition for their education certificate no later than the day of enrolment.

The syllabi for entrance examinations, including the extent of the required knowledge, abilities and skills along with a recommended reading list, will be sent by the faculty's admissions office along with the entrance examination invitation.

The results of the entrance examination will be evaluated electronically unless stated otherwise for a specific programme. The results of the entrance examination will be announced on the faculty website.

If an applicant is absent from the entrance examination for serious medical reasons, half the admission fee will be refunded upon the delivery of a written refund request to the faculty's admissions office. The request must be postmarked before the date of the entrance examination (determined by the posting date of the post office). No other reasons for the admission fee refund are considered valid; therefore it is impossible to claim a refund for the remainder of the fee.

Basic admission requirements for bachelor's studies:

- completed secondary-school education or secondary vocational education with a school-leaving certificate,
- meeting the requirements of the admission proceedings,
- for physical education programmes: a doctor's confirmation of the applicant's fitness for study.

Basic admission requirements for master's studies:

- a university degree at the bachelor's or master's level,
- meeting the requirements of the admission proceedings,
- for physical education programmes: a doctor's confirmation of the applicant's fitness for study.

Basic admission requirements for foreign applicants to bachelor's and master's programmes:

- successful passing of the entrance examination,
- Slovak language proficiency at the B2 level according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (this does not apply to applicants to the programme Slovak for the Linguistic and Cultural Competence of International Students) and an ECL (European Consortium for the Certificate of Attainment in Modern Languages) certificate attesting to the applicant's B2 level in Slovak,

- confirmation of acceptance of the applicant’s certificate of education completed abroad at the required level of education (with the exception of certificates from the Czech Republic, for which a confirmation is not needed).

Admission requirements for bachelor’s studies

Bachelor’s Degree Teaching Programmes:

Teaching of English Language and Literature

English language proficiency at the B2 level or higher according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages is a precondition for studying English language and literature in all teaching programmes. Written entrance examinations are administered for those programme combinations which receive more applicants than their planned enrolment number. The written entrance examination is focused on grammar, vocabulary and receptive skills (reading and listening comprehension). Applicants must earn at least a 60% mark on the examination to be accepted. To earn the maximum score for English language proficiency in the admission proceedings (without taking the entrance examination), the applicants must present a certificate obtained by completing at least one of the following examinations:

- IELTS – International English Language Testing System – minimum level 6.5;
- University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations, Certificate in Advanced English;
- University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations, Certificate of Proficiency in English;
- University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations, First Certificate in English – result A;
- secondary school leaving examination on the English language – level B2, external portion – minimum 85% mark + internal portion – result “excellent (A)”.

Teaching of French Language and Literature – no entrance examination.

French language proficiency at the A2 level or higher according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages is a precondition for studying French language and literature in all teaching programmes.

If the number of applicants exceeds the admission plan for the programme, the faculty reserves the right to select applicants who present a certificate (notarized copy) demonstrating successful completion of at least one of the following examinations:

- a DELF or DALF French language diploma;
- secondary school leaving examination in the French language;
- first-to-third place at the French Language Olympiad (either in the regional or national round);
- state examination in the French language issued by the State Language School.

The faculty reserves the right to select applicants who do not submit the above credentials according to the average mark from their school-leaving examination.

Teaching of German Language and Literature – no entrance examination.

German language proficiency at the B1 level or higher according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages is a precondition for studying the German language and literature in all teaching programmes.

If the number of applicants exceeds the planned enrolment for the programme, the faculty reserves the right to select applicants according to their averaged results from the secondary school leaving examination.

Teaching of Russian Language and Literature – no entrance examination.

Russian language proficiency at the A2 level or higher according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages is a precondition for studying the Russian language and literature in all teaching programmes.

If the number of applicants exceeds the planned enrolment for the programme, the faculty reserves the right to select applicants according to their averaged results from the secondary school leaving examination.

Teaching of History – no entrance examination.

If the number of applicants exceeds the planned enrolment for the programme, the faculty reserves the right to select applicants according to their averaged results from the secondary school leaving examination.

Teaching of Philosophy – no entrance examination.

If the number of applicants exceeds the planned enrolment for the programme, the faculty reserves the right to select applicants according to their averaged results from the secondary school leaving examination.

Teaching of Slovak Language and Literature – no entrance examination.

If the number of applicants exceeds the planned enrolment for the programme, the faculty reserves the right to select applicants according to their averaged results from the secondary school leaving examination.

Teaching of Physical Education – aptitude test:

1. endurance – 1500 m run;
2. dynamic strength – repeated turns around an overhead horizontal bar (men);
– repeated turns around a forehead-high horizontal bar (women);
3. athletics – 50 m run;
4. aerobic gymnastics – compulsory acrobatic routine (handstand – forward roll, dive roll from place, backwards back extension roll, cartwheel);
5. team sport (choice between basketball and volleyball) – evaluation of in-game performance;
6. swimming – 100 m either front crawl or breaststroke, starting jump (any other swimming style is evaluated according to the crawl performance charts).

Bonuses

- A bonus of 60% of the number of points earned in the admission proceedings will only be assigned to students who have participated in the Olympic Games (demonstrated by a certificate from the Slovak Olympic Committee);
- A bonus of 30% of the number of points earned in the admission proceedings will only be assigned to students who have participated in the World Championships or the European Championships (adults or juniors) in Olympic sports according to the categorization of the Ministry of Education, Science, Research and Sports of the Slovak Republic, ranked at least tenth place and present a certificate from the authorized sports federation as proof. The certificate must accompany the printed application form or be presented in person at the entrance examination during registration;
- A bonus of 10% of the number of points obtained in the admission proceedings will only be assigned to students who have participated in the World Championships or the European Championships (adults or juniors) in non-Olympic sports according to the categorization of the Ministry of Education, Science, Research and Sports of the Slovak Republic, ranked at least third place and present a certificate from the authorized sports association as proof. The certificate must accompany the printed application form or be presented in person at the entrance examination during registration.

The bonus will be added to the applicant's overall score after completing the admission aptitude tests, but only up to a maximum total of 100 points.

Applicants who apply for two programmes at the Department of Physical Educations and Sports FA MBU can only undergo the aptitude test once; the results achieved will be taken into consideration in both programmes.

Bachelor's Degree Non-Teaching Programmes:

Philosophy (only as part of interdisciplinary programmes) – no entrance examination.

If the number of applicants exceeds the planned enrolment for the programme, the faculty reserves the right to select applicants according to their averaged results from the secondary school leaving examination.

History – no entrance examination.

If the number of applicants exceeds the planned enrolment for the programme, the faculty reserves the right to select applicants according to their averaged results from the secondary school leaving examination.

Slovak Language and Literature (as part of interdisciplinary programmes) – no entrance examination.

If the number of applicants exceeds the planned enrolment for the programme, the faculty reserves the right to select applicants according to their averaged results from the secondary school leaving examination.

Slovak for the Linguistic and Cultural Competence of International Students – no entrance examination.

The programme is aimed at studying Slovak language by foreign students. The basic requirement of admission for the bachelor's programme is a completed secondary school education or vocational education at the equivalent level of the Slovak secondary education system and its requirements. Applications for this programme must include a letter of motivation in English no longer than one standard page. If the applicant does not provide a letter of motivation by the application deadline, their application will be considered invalid. The admissions committee decides the order in which applicants are admitted based on an anonymous evaluation of their letters of motivation.

Bachelor's Degree Translation Programmes:

English Language and Culture

Entrance examinations for combination programmes that include English Language and Culture are administered for those programme combinations which receive more applicants than their planned enrolment number. The written entrance examination is focused on testing English language proficiency – grammar, vocabulary, the cultures and institutions of anglophone countries and basic knowledge of current cultural and sociopolitical events. The exam will also include a translation from English into Slovak, which will be evaluated in the usual manner.

Applicants must earn at least a 60% mark on the English-language entrance exam to be accepted.

To earn the maximum score for English language proficiency in the admission proceedings (without taking the entrance examination), the applicants must present a certificate obtained by completing at least one of the following examinations:

Admission requirements for master's degree study

Applicants will be accepted to all master's degree programmes without an entrance examination.

If there is a large number of applicants for master's study, they will be selected based on the results of their bachelor's degree state exams and in keeping with the projected number of accepted applicants.

Applicants to non-teaching programmes must hold a bachelor's degree in a field of study in the humanities or social sciences to be accepted.

Applicants to master's programmes in teaching must have completed a bachelor's programme in the field of study Teacher Training and Education Science (before 1 September 2019 – Teaching of Academic Subjects, Teaching of Arts Education and Non-Academic Subjects, or Teaching of Vocational Subjects and Practical Training) or in an interdisciplinary programme that includes such a field of study.

Applicants to the programme Teaching of Physical Education (day and external form) must hold a bachelor's degree in a programme in the Teaching and Pedagogical Sciences field of study, including the core pedagogical/psychological and social-science curriculum, or a programme from the Sport Sciences field of study with a successfully completed bachelor's state exam in physical education.

The following sport specializations will be available under the Teaching of Physical Education and Coaching programme: Aerobic Gymnastics, Alpine Skiing, Athletics, Basketball, Biathlon (external form), Fitness Coaching, Hiking, Ice Hockey, Judo, Karate, Kickboxing, Swimming, Snowboarding, Volleyball, Weightlifting and Wrestling. The Faculty of Arts is not currently offering the specialization Football at the master's level.

Applicants to the multidisciplinary programme Teaching of Physical Education and Coaching must:

- have passed the bachelor's degree state examination in the programme that includes physical education courses and a core curriculum in pedagogy and psychology,
- have completed the same specialization at the bachelor's level as they intend to choose at the master's level,
- have valid fourth-degree qualifications in their chosen sport specialization.

Master's programmes in the field of study Philology:

For master's programmes in translation (philology), students will be admitted who hold a bachelor's degree in the same field of study or combination thereof and meet the following language proficiency requirements:

English Language and Culture – level C1 or higher according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages;

French Language and Culture – level B2 or higher according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages;

German Language and Culture – level C1 or higher according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages;

Russian Language and Culture – level B2 or higher according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.

Applicants to the master's programme Russian Language and Culture must hold a bachelor's degree in the Russian language in the same or a related field of study or combination thereof.

Applicants to all study programmes at the bachelor's and master's levels (except for the programme Slovak for the Linguistic and Cultural Competence of International Students) who have attended secondary school in a foreign country must have a command of the Slovak language at at least the B2 level according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages, attested to by an ECL certificate.

Admission requirements for doctoral studies

According to Section 56 (3) of Act No. 131/2002 Coll., completion of a master's degree programme or a programme regulated by Section 53 (3) is a basic requirement for admission. Further admission requirements are specified individually for every programme pursuant to Section 57 (1) (see www.ff.umb.sk/en – Admission and study – Postgradual degree).

Applicants must register for one of the doctoral dissertation topics listed under individual programmes.

The entrance examination takes place before the committee appointed by the Dean of the MBU Faculty of Arts. During the entrance examination, the applicant must demonstrate the ability to engage in independent creative activity in the specific field of study and in relation to the doctoral dissertation topic they wish to register for.

Requirements for post-master's rigorosum examinations

Master's degree holders may take a post-master's "rigorosum" examination, which includes a dissertation defence in the field of their university studies or a related field. To successfully complete the rigorosum exam and dissertation defence, the candidate must demonstrate, by means of an original work of scholarship, a deep understanding of and broad grounding in their field of study, an ability to independently assimilate new findings from research and practice, and an ability to put their acquired knowledge into practice in a creative manner.

Post-master's "rigorosum" examinations are available in accredited master's degree programmes in the following fields of study:

Teacher Training and Education Science in the programmes:

- Teaching of English Language and Literature,
- Teaching of History,
- Teaching of Philosophy,
- Teaching of French Language and Literature,
