

Implementing Public Participation Approaches in Radioactive Waste Disposal (IPPA)

Project Number: 269849

Duration: January 2011 – December 2013

Total planned expenditure: 52 290 €

Type of the Project: FP7-Fission-2010

Implemented by: Faculty of Political Science and International Relations /
Department of Security Studies

Web page: <http://www.ippaproject.eu/>

The focus of IPPA is on the establishment of arenas where different stakeholders can move forward together to increase their understanding of the issues involved in radioactive waste disposal and of their respective views. The focus is on implementation in some central and eastern European countries. The overall structure is in one end to take stock of existing research results and other experiences for implementation, and in the other end to evaluate to provide feedback to knowledge and research. The framework of the "Implementing Geological Disposal of Radioactive Waste Technology Platform" (IGD-TP) can be a suitable forum in which to investigate these issues further, therefore emphasis is given to linking IPPA results to the development of the platform.
