The conference objectives:

The aim of the scientific and industrial event is to analyze the prospects for development of the energy sector by contributing to the scientific and expert discussion on the energy sector in its broadest sense, including energy security, sustainable development, as well as management of energy sector entities. The scientific discussion will concern the business model of the energy system which includes: suppliers of energy sources, energy producers, transmission networks with infrastructure, energy storage, management of energy systems, energy consumers. We invite you to choose from five thematic panels:

- Energy security management
- Sustainable development management
- Supply chain management
- Managing companies in the energy sector, in the context of:
 - o Strategic management
 - o Business continuity management
 - o Human resources management
 - o Management, economics, financial auditing
- Energy management on the future battlefield

Fixing a platform for discussions involving scientists, experts, military, representatives of public administration, energy companies, non-governmental organizations, business journalists and students, will contribute to the development of scientific output in this area of knowledge and to further research in this direction.
